Saxophone Performance Workshop 2017

Join us for our annual saxophone workshop devoted to middle and high school saxophonists. This is a fun and intensive week of saxophone study that deals with all aspects of saxophone performance.

Students will perform in a large saxophone ensemble comprised of soprano through bass saxophones, work in smaller duets, trios, and quartets, and even attend sessions on jazz and improvisation.

The workshop is tailored to meet the individual needs of our participants of all levels. If you are an enthusiastic student of the saxophone and really love playing, then this is the event for you.

Instructors for the week are Robert Haley, Ravan Durr, Thomas Giles and Emma Haley. Their many decades of direct experience, both teaching and performing, will benefit every attendee and provide multiple insights into all facets of the instrument.

The cost of the workshop is $200 and can be paid in two installments. Enrollment is limited to 30 participants.
